ORDER

Pursuant to Chapter 30, Article II, Section 30-34, Escambia County Code of Ordinances, this matter, after written notice to all parties, was heard on July 5, 2011, before Robert O. Beasley, Special Master, Office of Code Enforcement Special Master, in the Old County Courthouse, BCC Chambers, 223 South Palafox Place, Pensacola, Florida 32501 upon an alleged violation of the Ordinances of Escambia County, State of Florida, to specifically include Escambia County Codes 6.04.01, 9.01.00(a)(b), 9.02.00(a)(b)(c), C.C.O. 30-30203(a)(b) and LDC 7.07.06.

B. Statement of the Case

The matter came to hearing upon a Notice of Violation issued June 13, 2011. Exhibits A-J were submitted by the County and Exhibit 1 was submitted by the Respondent. Included in these exhibits was an Order of the Special Magistrate dated March 20, 2006, ("2006 Order"), which specifically addressed the same issues presented in the current Notice of Violation. The primary issue presented by the witnesses on behalf of Escambia County was the increased commercial traffic resulting from the use of the subject property as the primary business location for Mr. Tindall's company, Allied Services of NW FL LLC. These are the same complaints as presented in 2006 when the residence was being used by Mr. Tindall's then business, American Lighting & Signs of Florida, Inc. The photographs submitted by the County and neighbors illustrate multiple vehicles on the property at various times. Primarily these vehicles consist of up to three white pick-up trucks with ladder racks and one other large commercial vehicle such as a bucket truck or drilling truck. The photographic evidence revealed that these vehicles shared license plates at times. Mr. Tindall insists that two of the white pickup trucks are his personal vehicles and the other one belongs to a relative, Mr. Mincks, who visits often. Also parked at the residence on a regular basis are a white Saturn and a Dodge truck which Mr. Tindall has identified as belonging to his wife. Some of the photos reveal two other vehicles (Dodge truck and a blue SUV) which are parked by the fence on the side yard. Mr. Tindall claims that the two vehicles parked on the side by the fence are workers employed by his neighbor and he allows them to park there for convenience.

It is the position of Mr. Tindall that he is in compliance with the 2006 Order as he continues to maintain only one "commercial vehicle" on the property at any one time. This position centers the debate, in part, on the issue of whether the three white pickup trucks are "commercial vehicles." While I agree that the type of vehicle in question, a pickup truck, could be either personal or commercial use, these trucks are all white and are equipped with ladder racks. They appear to be the same vehicles which were parked on the property in 2006, but without the name on the side. One truck does appear to be titled in the name of Villachai Mincks and not Mr. Tindall. However, the evidence reflects that January Mincks (the daughter of Mr. Tindall) is an officer of Allied Services of NWFL LLC. Mr. Tindall acknowledged that Mr. Mincks works in his business, at least part time. Finally, the issue with the "borrowing" of license plates is concerning. It appears that Mr. Tindall is moving a plate from one vehicle to another depending on his need for a vehicle. All of the above evidence leads to the conclusion that the three white pickup trucks are being used for commercial purposes in support of the ongoing sign business. While it is possible that Mr. Tindall and his wife use five different vehicles for their personal use, it is more likely that three of those vehicles are being used for commercial purposes.

The above analysis is unnecessary to reach a conclusion that Mr. Tindall is in violation of the 2006 Order once the testimony of the various neighbors is considered. The neighbors testified about multiple commercial vehicles coming and going on a daily basis. One photograph, Exhibit I, shows a loaded ladder truck with a boom lift trailer attached, in addition to a large bucket truck. This is a clear violation of the 2006 Order. Other neighbors testified that they witnessed employees parking at the residence and then taking another vehicle to start their work day. This activity was specifically prohibited in the 2006 Order.

It appears Mr. Tindall has made an effort to comply with the 2006 Order. The amount of business activity related to the assemblage of commercial signs appears to have ceased and there is an effort to control the number of vehicles at the property at any one time. It also appears that the size of this business is such that it may be impossible to base it operations from a residence and maintain compliance. Mr. Tindall simply has too much equipment and too many vehicles in his business to continue to use his residence as an office without interfering with the rights of his neighbors to peacefully enjoy their property¹. In a way he is a victim of his own success. Mr. Tindall could move his operations to a commercial facility but that would obviously increase his operating expense. However, his cost savings should not come at the expense of his neighbors.

¹ The evidence submitted included a document reflecting certain restrictive covenants which may still exist and pertain to the use of the subject property. While there does not seem to be an existing Homeowners Association to enforce these covenants, Mr. Tindall does appear to be in violation thereof.

D. Decision

Mr. Tindall shall immediately cease and desist using the property for support of his commercial operations in violation of the 2006 Order. By way of clarification, the 2006 Order includes vehicles which could be personal use vehicles, like pickup trucks, but are in fact being used in support of the business operations. Failure to do so will result in a fine in the amount of $500.00 per day, which shall commence on ten (10) days from the date of this Order. The amount of the penalty is justified as this is a second violation. Mr. Tindall shall continue to maintain compliance with the 2006 Order and shall not expand his commercial use of the residence. Specifically, the commercial use of the property shall consist of no more than one commercial vehicle at any given time and no personal vehicles related to employees or independent contractors related to the business. This includes white pickup trucks with ladder racks, regardless of who owns them. This Order shall constitute a continuing injunction regarding this activity and the Code Enforcement Officers shall periodically check the property and record an affidavit of violation at any time a violation shall exists. There shall be a $500.00 fine assessed each time an affidavit of violation is recorded.
