SECOND AMENDED ORDER

This matter was presented for hearing upon a Notice of Violation issued November 10, 2010. This was a repeat violation related to the same matter (condition of the structure) as an Order of enforcement issued in Case # 05-12-0268, issued on September 12, 2006. Following a full evidentiary hearing an Order was entered on November 30, 2010, which found there to be an existing violation of Sections 42-196 (overgrowth) and 30-203 (building code), Escambia County Code of Ordinances and directed abatement, to include obtaining a building permit and repair of the structure, on or before January 17, 2011.¹ As of this date, these repairs have not been conducted or even commenced.

On November 20, 2012, a hearing was conducted upon the request of Escambia County to amend the Order to include the remedy of demolition. Physical evidence identified as Exhibits "A" & "B" were entered into the record and testimony from the Respondent, representatives of Escambia County and the surrounding neighbors was heard. The photographs illustrated that the property had once again been consumed by a heavy overgrowth, but that the property owner had, once again, taken measures to remedy the overgrowth prior to the date of the hearing. Ultimately however, it is the condition of the structure and not the overgrowth that presents the greatest concern.

The evidence is compelling that the property has remained in a state of disrepair for many years, possibly since it was damaged by Hurricane Ivan in 2004. The evidence is also compelling that the house has not been occupied by anyone for many years prior to Hurricane Ivan in 2004. The Respondent testified that her daughter removed all of the furniture from the house in 2004. The Respondent has no immediate plans to repair the home but has suggested her intent to donate the home to a church or organization for the benefit of veterans. While this is an admirable goal, the Respondent has made no substantive efforts towards such since the remediation Order of 2006. As of the hearing, no other entity has agreed to take the property and make the necessary repairs. The contractor testifying on behalf of the Respondent, Mr. Rockwell, had not been in the house for the two (2) years prior to the hearing but agreed the structure needed "extensive" repairs. Mr. Rockwell had not been retained by the Respondent to calculate an exact estimate of the repairs needed as of the date of the hearing. The Respondent made it clear that she did not have the resources to accomplish a substantial level of repairs, or even repairs to the extent necessary to allow for power or utilities to the structure. There is currently no electrical service to the structure.

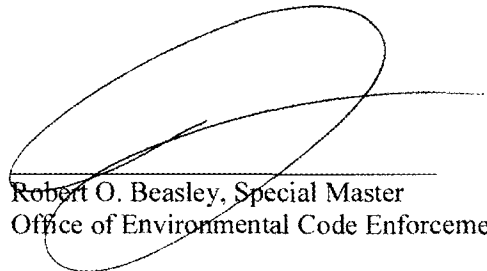

The neighbors testified that the property and structure has been a constant source of rats, and other vermin and has attracted vagrants at various times. Their testimony confirms the photographic evidence that the structure has cracks and other openings which allows access and exposure to the elements.

It does not appear that the Respondent has the ability or intention to make the substantial repairs needed to the structure. The goal of giving the home away, even if accomplished, does not offer a remedy to the problem in a reasonable period of time. The Respondent has had since 2006, the date of the first enforcement Order, to accomplish a remediation of the structure but had failed to do so. There is no evidence to support the supposition that additional time will give the Respondent an opportunity to resolve the issues or bring the property into compliance.

The Order dated November 30, 2010, as amended by the Amended Order dated February 28, 2011, is further amended to provide that the County may, after no less than thirty (30) days written notice to the first, and all subordinate lien holders, take such action as necessary to accomplish the demolition of the structure. Following demolition, the County may seek a supplemental order awarding costs related to this demolition along with additional costs of enforcement.

FINAL DEFICIENCY JUDGMENT

THIS CAUSE came before the Court on Plaintiff's Motion for Deficiency Judgment. The Court, at the hearing held on October 27, 2014, having reviewed its file, considered the evidence, arguments, pleadings, and applicable law, and otherwise being fully advised in all relevant matters, makes the following factual findings:

1. This Court entered a Final Judgment of Foreclosure ("Final Judgment") in this case on March 26, 2014, against the Defendant. As of that date, Plaintiff was owed a total of $65,842.63.
2. The date of the foreclosure sale in this matter was April 24, 2014 ("the sale date"), and there were 29 days between the date the Final Judgment was entered and the sale date. The Property was sold to a third party bidder at the foreclosure sale with a winning bid of $18,700.00.
3. The $65,842.63 Final Judgment amount at the statutory interest rate of 4.75% generates a per diem rate of $15.33, and over 29 days results in an additional interest charge of $444.57.
4. The fair market value of the property on the sale date was $35,000.00.
5. The difference between the total amounts owed to Plaintiff, including post-judgment interest as of the sale date and the fair market value of the subject property, results in a principal deficiency of $31,707.20. As such, the amount owed on the sale date, plus post-sale interest at a rate of 4.75%, generates a per diem rate of $4.12, and over 214 days (April 25, 2014 to November 26, 2014) results in additional interest in the amount of $881.68.
6. Accordingly, the Defendant owes Plaintiff a deficiency balance as of the sale date calculated as follows:
